yes no

One of the richest resources I have to pass on to others is the collection of students' stories I know. I'm asking here if it's OK to write and talk about you and your educational path and to quote what you write. Check one:

Write and talk about and quote me when you think it's appropriate. Use your judgment, Wes, about what's highly personal and should remain private.

Write and talk about and quote me only when you have my permission to do so.

Don't write or talk about or quote me under any circumstances.

Student's agreement: I understand that I am taking on most of the responsibility for my own education. I agree to provide necessary information to Beach High School when asked, to report changes in my plans and in my address or phone number, to call when I need help, and in general to keep in touch. I understand that my enrollment may be ended without notice by Beach High School if I do not stay in touch in a reasonable way. If you're 18 or older, or emancipated, and you're signing entirely for yourself: I'm also accepting the parent's agreement below.
